

BARRINGTON HALL INSPIRING SPOT

President's Nature Full of Its Atmosphere.

TALE OF MOTHER'S LOYALTY

Waved Stars and Bars Over Confederate Prisoners in New York Streets.

The visit of the President to his mother's girlhood home, Barrington Hall, is one of the dramatic features of his trip through the South. It must have possessed a special and sentimental claim for President Roosevelt, who loves to trace the well-springs of his composite nature among the diverse streams that contributed their quota to its making.

That the President comes naturally by his quota of Southern sympathies is not remarkable to those who knew the gentle and gracious woman who was his mother, or have lived in the neighborhood in which appreciations of her personality are held among the people's sweetest memories.

Faithful to Home.
Martha Bulloch was never less a Southern woman because she gave heart and hand to a woeer from beyond the Mason and Dixon's line. The lessons she drank in with the very air of Barrington Hall she never forgot and her brothers, who were officers in the Confederate navy, were the heroes of her girlhood and womanhood.

A story is told that illustrates well her unflinching devotion to the South.

Toward the end of the civil war, when regiments of the victorious Union armies were returning from the front, and Confederate prisoners marched between ranks of blue, to the prisons that awaited them, such a cortege, mingled of victory and defeat, elation, and despondency, passed through the New York street in which stood the Roosevelt mansion.

The Confederate prisoners walked sullenly along, shoulders slouching, heads drooping, with ruin behind and cheerless despair all the future held or promised. Suddenly one of them looked up, to see the Southern Stars and Bars streaming from an upper window. A woman held and waved the silken folds. Along the lines of gloom, eye after eye caught a glimpse of the vision. Hearts thrilled and faces lightened and rebel throats, in the hostile city street, pealed out the rebel yell.

Son Reflects Feeling.
With a mother like that it is not remarkable that the President should understand the Southern character and find means of appealing to the Southern people. Indeed, it would be surprising if it were otherwise.

For one who has seen Barrington Hall and its inspiring surroundings it is not difficult to understand the traditions of the South the mother imparted.

"One of the most stately structures of the colonial type in the South is the Bulloch home," said C. E. Graves, who is spending a few days in Washington.

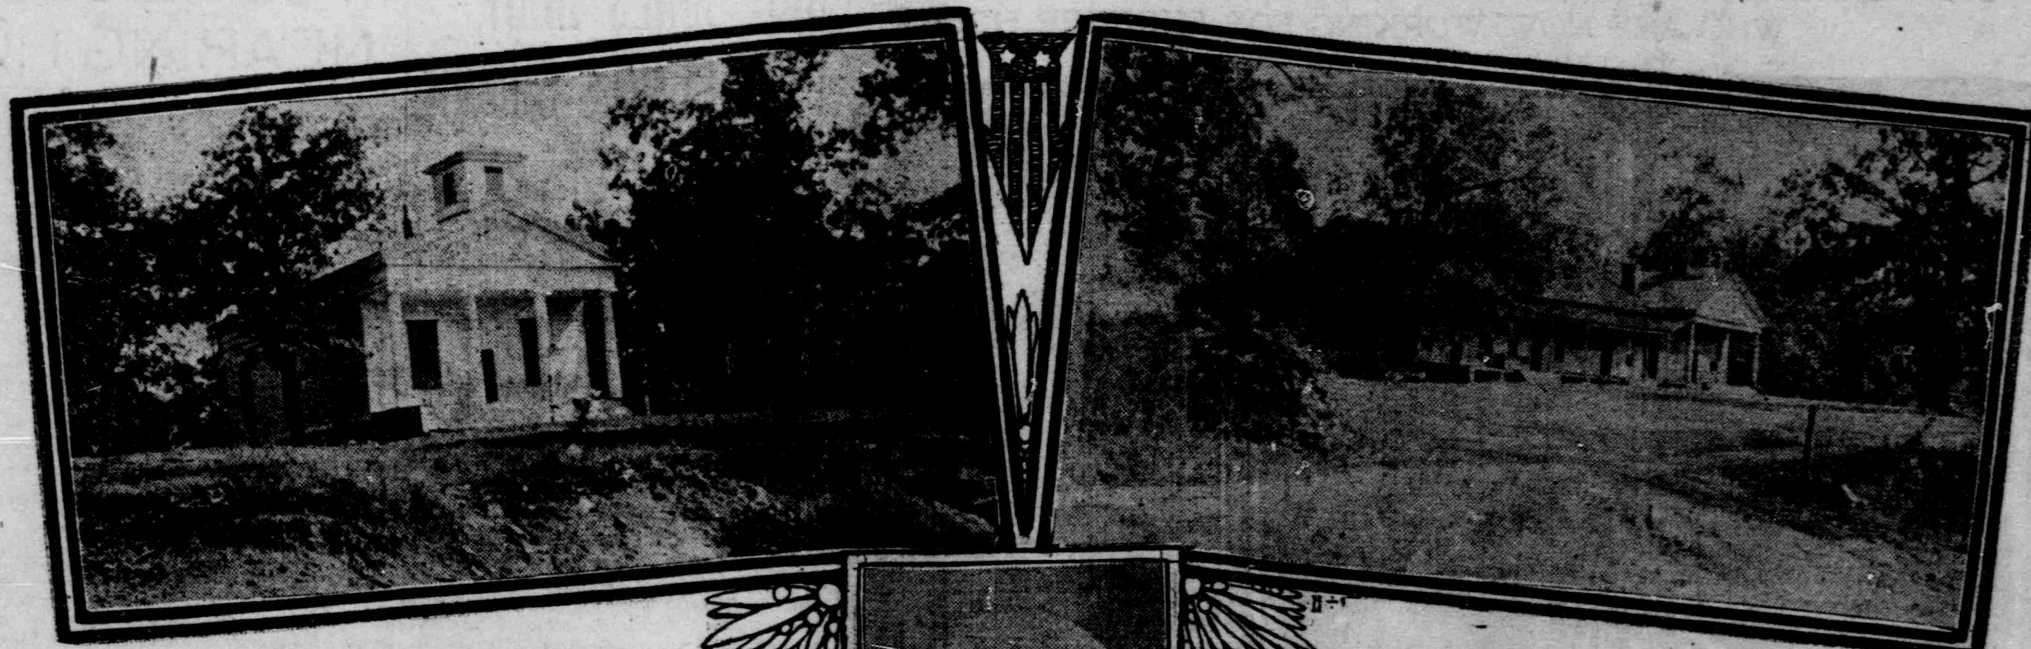

One of Most Stately.
"I spent an entire summer there several years ago," he continued, "but did not know of the connection that the house had with the history of President Roosevelt's mother, until I saw an account in The Times yesterday of the President's visit to Roswell."

"As soon as I saw it stated that the present occupants were the Wings and Postmistress Wood, I immediately recalled with peculiar pleasure the beautiful home, crowning one of the most elevated points in the little hamlet among the old red hills of Georgia."

"The Bulloch home is situated at the end of a long avenue of cedars. There are two driveways approaching the house, while there is a walk leading from the gate to the veranda. The colonial mansion is surrounded by a lawn of eleven acres, and this is made a perfect network by small streams which wind in and out among the dense undergrowth. The surrounding country is overgrown with giant poplars and water oaks."

"One could not imagine a more picturesque spot than this home of the mother of our President. If physical surroundings have taught to do with the formation of inherited characteristics, one can find here an explanation for President Roosevelt's love for the forests primeval and the wild, rugged hills."

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO ALL MUSIC LOVERS

Marine Band Concert.

The series of Sunday evening concerts to be given by the Marine Band at the Columbia Theater this fall and winter will start Sunday night, November 5. It is being generally predicted that these affairs will be immensely popular.

Lieutenant Santelmann has just received two beautiful diplomas from President Francis of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. These diplomas attest to Mr. Santelmann's high ability as a conductor, as well as to the fine showing made by the band as a body while at the exposition.

Mr. Santelmann has prepared an unusually attractive program for the opening concert of the series. The soloist for this occasion will be Jacques L. Vanpoucke, clarinet, who has for six years been the principal soloist of the Marine Band. Mr. Vanpoucke is well known as a virtuoso in Europe, Canada, and the United States, and is regarded as one of the finest performers on this most difficult of wood-wind instruments, as well as being an authority on musical schooling as applied to wood-wind or reed instruments. Those who have enjoyed his playing in the open air will be glad at this opportunity of hearing him perform under more favorable conditions in a comfortable theater.

The band will leave Washington on November 19 to be absent two weeks, during which time it will give a series of concerts in New York city and through New York State. This concert tour has been arranged in compliance with many invitations which have reached Lieutenant Santelmann during the past year. The fame of the Government band has been spread broadcast through its work here and the tour which has been arranged promises to be unusually successful.

New Organist Engaged.
Joseph Harrison has been engaged as organist and choirmaster of the Ninth Street Christian Church, and will assume his duties as such on November 1. Mr. Harrison is conspicuous in musical affairs in Washington and in addition to being a soloist of much ability he is now the concertmaster of the Rebekah Orchestra, a position which he assumed early in the fall.

Saengerbund Entertainment.
The first musical entertainment by the Washington Saengerbund will be given this evening in the club house in C street. Members and friends of the society will welcome the new year, for it means to them a series of entertainments until the late spring. Mr. Xander, musical director of the society, will have charge of all musical programs, and will be assisted in his concerts by the Saengerbund chorus and by a group of prominent soloists. The program tonight is interesting, and will be as follows:

Choruses—(a) "Noch sind die Tage der Rosen," Spicker; (b) "Das einsame Rosen in Thal," Hermes. Piano solo, "Vals in E major," Moskowski, Miss Olive Layle Demarest. Contralto solo, "Di Tei," Trindell, Mrs. Annie Little. Bridge Goodhue. Baritone solo, "A Song of Thanksgiving," Allitts, William Claiborn. Soprano solo, Aria of the Page from "The Huguenots," Meyerbeer, Miss Irene A. Dietrich. Flute solo, Concert-stuck, "Gut Nacht du mein herziges Kind," Popp, Robert E. Seel. Bass solo, Recitative and Aria from "Don Carlos," Verdi, Joseph C. Murray.

Music at St. Mary's.

The program of music at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fifth street, near H northwest, for today is as follows: At 10:30 a.m.—Marzo's First Mass; offertory, "Ave Maria" (Bisetti), soprano solo.

At 4 p.m.—Psalms and Magnificat, Marzo's Second Vespers, "Salve Regina" (Millaud), quartet, "O Salutaris" (Wagner), bass solo, "Tantum Ergo" (Berger), alto solo and chorus.

Boston Symphony.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will bring to Washington for its five concerts its full force of ninety-six performers, the orchestra that is used in Baltimore, Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. This is the largest permanent organization in America, and by far the largest traveling orchestra in the world. The expense of transporting this body of men from city to city is enormous, as no discrimination is made between the humblest member of the organization and the most expensive. All fare alike in hotels and railway cars.

It is a great advantage to prospective patrons of the five Boston symphony concerts which will be given in the New National Theater this winter to subscribe for the whole series. Not only will there be a material reduction in the price—about 20 per cent—but such subscribers will always be sure of getting seats, which means a good deal when it is considered that the capacity of the theater will all but be exhausted by the season sale.

Moreover, the subscribers of this year have the privilege of securing for next season the seats they will occupy this before the books are opened for new subscribers.

The Calve Tour.

Mme. Calve, the great prima donna, will make her only appearance in Washington this season at the National Theater Thursday afternoon, November 16, at 4:30 o'clock.

Her concert tour will take her to many cities in which she has never appeared in opera, but where she long has desired to sing. One reason why there is so much anticipation all over the land in regard to the Calve tour is that the singer has been heard in fewer places than any other of the celebrated artists. Every other famous opera singer has made one or more concert tours; Calve has made none, and there is much curiosity in other cities to hear the famous prima donna.

Unschuld Club.

The meeting of the Unschuld Club last Friday was very interesting. Handel's Concerto Grossi, C major; the first Haydn Quartet, and Bruckner and Brahms Symphony Movements were played by four hands, and Miss von Unschuld continued to lecture on Wagner's "Ringelstein."

Little Mildred Kolb played the Adagio

"MOM GRACE" ROBINSON,
Maid to the President's Mother.

of the Mozart Sonata, F major, and it was much applauded.

The program of the three Unschuld piano quartet soirees, to be given in January, February, and March, will contain:

Piano quartet and the piano quintet, Schumann; piano trio, C minor, Beethoven; Dumky trio of Dvorak; piano trio, B major, of Brahms (new edition); Trout quintet, Schubert (by request); "Serenade," by Beethoven, for violin, viola, and cello; violin Sonata, Corelli; string quartet, "From My Life," Strakosky.

Philadelphia Orchestra.

Musicians of this city will have the opportunity this winter to renew acquaintance with the Philadelphia Orchestra under the leadership of Fritz Scheel. The local public is already familiar with the artistic attainments of this band of eighty musicians.

As good orchestral music is a rare occurrence in this city there is no question but that ample support will be given these concerts. It is announced that a prominent soloist will appear in each concert, one being a singer from the Metropolitan Opera House of New York and another a famous violinist. Negotiations are also on to secure for one of the concerts the celebrated Polish pianist, Arthur Rubinstein.

Entire Building.

THE sudden change in the weather will send you scurrying for heavier weight footwear. If you are of a discriminate taste you will buy Rich's, because there are none other which fully answer the requirements of fashion. The objection which many women have against heavy-weight shoes with thick soles is entirely overcome in Rich's. The prejudice is the appearance of clumsiness, but in Rich's heavy footwear there is an entire absence of such.

$3.50 up—for men and women.

Special attention is directed to our showing of the new castor boots and low shoes for women, both shown in all the new shades to match the new fall gowns. Spats in all the new colors for wear with low shoes.

As in many years past Rich's wedding, evening, and reception footwear stands highest in favor with those who are careful of fashion. Every shade in every fashionable material is here in slippers—a variety of over a hundred sorts.

Footwear for all the indoor and outdoor sports, including riding, golfing, hunting, gymnasium, tennis, are here in complete assortment.

Attention of mothers is directed to the assortment of children's shoes which includes all the new leathers and novelties.

CASE OF HARD LUCK.

Two Irishmen, employed in the building of a skyscraper, were rival strong men, and seized every chance to prove superiority in physical prowess. There was a difference of opinion among their fellow-laborers as to which was the stronger of the two, and after much discussion Riley bet McGinnis that he could carry him safely to the sixth story of the building.

The bet was accepted and, in the presence of an expectant crowd, Riley began his laborious task. He ascended the ladder safely until he reached the fifth story when, to the consternation of the spectators he was seen to stagger, almost dropping his burden. By a great effort, however, he recovered himself, and finally deposited McGinnis on the sixth floor.

"I've done it, McGinnis!" he exclaimed, triumphantly.

"That yes did, Riley," answered McGinnis in a disappointed voice, "but I had great hopes when you stumbled at the fifth story."—Harper's Weekly.

MELVIN RETURNS TO THE FOLD.

BIRDS THAT RARELY SING.

"It is useless," Susan B. Anthony said, "to attempt to reform or to elevate businesses or customs that we have not thoroughly studied. When, in ignorance, we try to set right and to help the world, we do more harm than good. We make fools of ourselves."

"Indeed we are then like a little girl whom I knew. The child went with her teacher to visit the county prison. She became interested in a convict who was knitting stockings, and stopped to talk with the man."

"Do you find it dull here, sir?" she said.

"Indeed I do, miss," the convict answered.

"Still," said the child, "the singing of the birds helps to relieve the monotony, doesn't it?"

"The well-meaning but ignorant child, with a helpful smile, replied:

"The little jail birds. They must be a great comfort to you."—Philadelphia Record.

A Test Will Tell

What Liquezone Can Do for You—and It Is Free

You who are waiting—we ask you again to try Liquezone; to try it at our expense. You'll regret this delay when you learn what the product means to you.

Do as millions have done—stop doubting; give Liquezone a test. Then judge it by results. Germ diseases—and there are scores of them—call for a germicide. Those are the diseases to which Liquezone best applies. Don't cling blindly to old-time remedies. If you don't find them effective. Let us prove the power of the new.

What Liquezone Is

The virtues of Liquezone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

Contact with Liquezone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquezone is not only harmless but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquezone is exhilarating, invigorating, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

We purchased the American rights to Liquezone after thousands of tests, had it made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 1,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. Today there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquezone can do.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—what Liquezone can do.

Where It Applies

These are the diseases in which Liquezone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.
